SAMUEL BROWN INTERVIEWED

CPYRGHT

MARLENE SANDERS: "Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield wants Congress as well as the White House to look into the secret subsidy of the National Students Association.

"And there has been at least one report that the NSA wants the Central Intelligence Agency to continue the funding, but the head of the NSA supervisory board Samuel Brown, denies this."

SAMUEL BROWN: "The national supervisory board of the National Student Association unanimously favors severing all ties with the Central Intelligence Agency. The board is currently considering the extent of NSA's relations with the CIA, ways to insure that all ties are eliminated and internal reforms to insure that it will not happen again."
